An Appeal

IN THE CAUSE OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT OF INDIA

THE ALL-INDIA MANUFACTURERS' ORGANIZATION
Industrial Assurance Building,
Fort, BOMBAY.

FOREWORD

It is well known that the economic strength of a modern nation depends upon the number, variety and capital cost of its heavy and large-scale industries, and that in the sphere of such industries India's position as producer is very weak at present.

In another column an appeal is made by some of the leading members of the All-India Manufacturers' Organisation asking persons engaged in promoting industries to join our Organisation in large numbers and strengthen its hands so that there may be closer co-operation between all persons working in the industrial field and production and income from industries may increase rapidly in future in all parts of the country.

Detailed reasons why an Organisation is necessary and for what reasons public support is due to it are given in the appeal.

M. Visvesvaraya

The All-India Manufacturers' Organization

INDUSTRIAL ASSURANCE BUILDING,
OPP. CHURCHGATE STATION, FORT
BOMBAY. Sept. 16, 1949.

Dear Sir,

During a period of eight years since its inception in 1941 the All-India Manufacturers' Organization has been trying to create and develop a national voice of industry in India. It has been built up by the enthusiastic support and active encouragement given to it by all classes of its members—Donor, Life, Company, Association and Ordinary. As is well known, the A.-I.M.O. is devoted to the cause of rapid industrialization of the country and has been striving its best to encourage, by every possible means in its power, the growth and expansion of existing industries and promotion of new industries with a view to increase employment and raise the standard of living of the masses. In this task we need the support and encouragement of all persons engaged in industrial activities and all progressive elements in the country.

Further, as is well known, the country is passing through an acute economic crisis, and every little increase in industrial production will be a help to lower the crisis and will be eagerly welcomed. We, therefore, take the liberty of approaching you and appealing to you to strengthen our Organization by becoming a member in the interests of the rapid promotion of industries in the country.

Naturally, when we approach you for support, you would like to know something about the Organization—what it stands for and what it is striving to achieve. Following the precedent of a similar Association in Canada, we have given in what follows particulars of this Organization in the form of replies to questions that are generally put to us by prospective members.

THE ALL-INDIA MANUFACTURERS' ORGANIZATION.

1. WHAT IS THE A.-I. M. O.?

The All-India Manufacturers' Organization is a representative body of industrialists, solely devoted to the cause of industrialization of the country, working on lines more or less similar to the leading Manufacturers' Organization in the industrially advanced countries of the West. It is a non-profit making, non-political organization, founded in 1941 by a group of industrialists under the leadership of Sir M. Visvesvaraya to provide a common platform for individuals and groups interested in promoting the rapid industrialization of the country on sound and progressive lines. "Prosperity through Industry" is its Motto and its Mission.

2. WHAT ARE THE OBJECTS OF THE A.-I. M. O.?

(1) To bring about the rapid industrialization of the country through sound and progressive economic policies;

(2) To increase the aggregate wealth of India and raise the standard of living of Indian people;

(3) To utilise to the fullest possible extent all the available material resources and talent in the country, and

(4) To relieve the pressure of population on land.

3. WHAT HAS THE A.-I. M. O. ACHIEVED SO FAR?

The Organization has been endeavouring to create a well informed public opinion on the urgent need for the rapid industrialization of the country. Its usefulness has been felt and realised by the public in general and manufacturers in particular.

The Organization has evolved a comprehensive scheme of industrialization of the whole country under three heads:

1. Large scale and heavy industries chiefly for urban areas or wherever facilities exist.
2. Small scale and cottage industries chiefly for rural areas; and
3. Economic development of the country as a whole and the building up of a sound economic organization.

To promote the above measures, the following publications and monographs on important industries and subjects of industrial interest have been issued by the Organization so far.

1. Prosperity through Industry.
2. Heavy Industries in British India.
3. District Industrialization Drive.
4. Village Industrialization.
5. Development of Heavy Industries in Provinces.
6. Reconstruction in Post-War India.
7. India and International Economic Policies.
8. Large Scale Industry in India.
9. Iron and Steel Industry in India.
10. Industries in Bombay City.
11. Rayon Industry.
12. Chemical Industry in India.
13. Disposal of War Surplus Stores.
14. Ceramics.
15. Place of India in World Trade & Shipping.
16. Industries in Post-War England.
17. How to start an Industry.
18. Leather Industry in India.
19. A.I.M.O. Memorandum to Fiscal Commission.
20. Village Industrialization Scheme in Two Parts.

A point of special importance is that the study of industrialization has been made not only from the requirements of large scale industries but also from those of village industries. The Organization has also undertaken to introduce its scheme of village industrialization in suitable rural areas of the country.

To assist the industrial advancement of the country, the Organization sent in the year 1946 a Delegation, sponsored by the Government of India and selected from amongst its members, to the industrially developed countries of Europe and America. The Delegation returned after a tour of about 6 months' duration. Its report—a document of 300 pages—containing valuable information and practical suggestions for the advancement of industries in India has been released to the public.

The importance of the Organization, its representative character and the useful role it plays for the cause of industrialization has been accorded direct representation upon a number of Advisory Councils and Committees set up by Government, such as Central Advisory Council for industries, Labour Conference Standing Committee for Labour, Indian Standards Institution, Advisory Board of the Planning Commission, Central Import and Export Advisory Councils, etc.

4. WHY SHOULD I BECOME A MEMBER ?

For one reason or another, every manufacturer is confronted to-day with multifarious problems—may be pertaining to disturbed industrial relations, lack of transport, quota permits, adequate supply for raw materials and industrial power, expansion of export trade, etc. The A.-I.M.O. can assist you in solving most of these problems by giving proper guidance and requisite information and, if necessary, by taking up the matter direct with the appropriate Government authorities.

5. I CAN MANAGE MY BUSINESS MYSELF; WHY SHOULD I SEEK THE A.-I. M. O.'S ASSISTANCE?

That is correct. But you will appreciate that times are changing, and that with the tremendous pace of industrial development in Europe and America you will have to keep yourself posted with modern developments to enable you to meet future competition from abroad. It will be necessary for you to introduce efficient management in your enterprise. You will have to locate better and cheaper sources of raw materials. You will have to find out sources of supplies of modern equipment, study labour laws, taxation, etc. In all these and other cognate matters the A.-I. M. O. will be of immense help to you. As a matter of fact, the A.-I. M. O. has been found by its members to be a ready source of supply of useful information such as every manufacturer badly needs, but has either no time or has not the means to gather himself. Further, as already mentioned, the Organization renders a wide range of services which cannot be secured elsewhere at so low a cost.

6. IS NOT THE MEMBERSHIP OF THE ORGANIZATION NECESSARY ONLY IN THE CASE OF LARGE SCALE MANUFACTURERS?

This Organization stands for promoting the interests of both large scale and small scale manufacturers. As a matter of fact, large manufacturers generally have efficient staff, maintain large offices and have generally sufficient influential contacts with Government offices and others which enable them to look after their interests themselves. It is the medium and small scale industries which need the assistance of an Organization like ours more frequently. In fact, the majority of our members represent small and medium scale industries. They approach us for assistance more often than the larger establishments. As a company with a small capital you may be paying a smaller fee, but you will be entitled to the same services and privileges to which the larger establishments paying more fees are entitled.

7. WHAT ARE THE RIGHTS AND PRIVILEGES OF A MEMBER ?

To whatever category of membership you may belong your rights and privileges will be the same. Even as an ordinary member you can take part in any of the activities of the Organization.

(a) Besides the Central Committee which meets four time a year for discussing economic and other industrial problems, the A.-I.M.O. has several special committees, nine in number, each dealing with a particular subject pertaining to or affecting industrial development. You will be eligible for becoming a member of any one or more of these committees, depending upon the interest you evince in the A.-I.M.O activities.

(b) You can seek the services of the Organization in assisting you in procuring raw materials, capital goods and machinery.

(c) You can also obtain from the Organization commercial, technical and statistical information that may be available.

(d) Further, you will get a copy of the A.-I.M.O. Journal every month and also frequent circulars on matters of importance.

(e) The members have also the benefit of free supply of such publications of the Organization as are intended for such circulation and the supply of others at concessional rates covering the bare cost of publication.

(f) In deserving cases the Organization makes representation to Government to get the difficulties of members re-dressed.

(g) Members can also utilise the services of the Delhi Provincial Board of the A.-I.M.O. in following up their individual cases with the Government of India. Similar use can also be made of the other Provincial Boards for following up the cases with the Provincial Governments concerned.

(h) As already stated, the Organization is represented on a number of Government Councils and Committees. The genuine difficulties of the members are taken up with these bodies by our representatives.

(i) Besides these, Symposia, Debates and Lectures are arranged by the Organization at periodical intervals, and members are free to take part in any of them.

8. I RECEIVE A LOT OF LITERATURE BY POST. HOW CAN I BE EXPECTED TO HAVE TIME TO READ THE A.-I. M. O. CIRCULARS AND JOURNALS ?

The circulars of the A.-I.M.O. relate to subjects of great importance and are summarised to take only the minimum amount of your time. Our Journal will supply you with specialised information of a kind such as you will find exceedingly useful in the pursuit of your industrial and economic activities.

9. WHAT ARE THE SPECIAL COMMITTEES MENTIONED EARLIER ?

We have nine Special Committees dealing with the following subjects:

1. Committee No. I for Industrial Finance and Development.
2. Committee No. II for Statistics and Marketing.
3. Committee No. III for Regional Organization and Propaganda.
4. Committee No. IV for Parliamentary Affairs.

5. Committee No. V for Industrial Raw Materials.

7. Committee No. VII for Foreign Trade.
8. Committee No. VIII for Industrial Foundation.
9. Committee No. IX for village Industrialization.

10. WHAT CAN YOUR SPECIAL COMMITTEES DO FOR ME?

If you have a problem on Industrial development may be relating to some technical process or to an economic subject—the respective Special Committee will be glad to help you to the best of its opportunity as far as practicable.

The A.-I.M.O. maintains a comprehensive list of experts on many subjects and their consultation will be available through the Organization either free or on payment of reasonable fees according to the nature of the problem.

During the last year, the Industrial Raw Materials Com mittee was successful in helping a large number of members The Committee for Statistics and Marketing undertakes periodical economic surveys of different regions and collects and supplies essential statistics of existing industries. It also advises industrialists on suitable methods of marketing their products.

11. WHY SHOULD I COME TO THE A.-I.M.O. FOR ADVICE ON INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS?

Labour Legislation, Provincial or Central, applies to employment in large and small factories, where ten or more workers are employed and power is used or where twenty or more workers are employed and power is not used. These labour laws affect all industrialists very materially and they are so varied and complicated that you will require the guidance of an Organization like ours on many points coming under industrial relations.

12. HOW CAN I TAKE PART IN THE ACTIVITIES OF THE A.-I.M.O. IF I AM RESIDENT IN A PLACE FAR FROM BOMBAY ?

The A.-I.M.O. has already established Provincial Boards, District Councils and City Councils in different parts of the country. You can take part in the activities of the Organization and Regional Body located in your Province, District or City. In case there is no branch of the Organization near your place, we would welcome your taking the initiative in securing the co-operation of other manufacturers in your area and establishing a Regional Branch of the A.-I.M.O.

13. WHAT HAVE I TO PAY FOR THESE DIFFERENT SERVICES ?

You will not be required to pay anything extra for these services. They are free and you will have to pay only your annual subscription.

14. I BELONG TO OUR OWN INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION. WHY SHOULD I BECOME A MEMBER OF THE A.-I.M.O.?

An individual association will cover only the needs of the particular industry, sometimes with reference to technical matters only. Such an Association and an Organization of our type which covers all the industries of the country have their own place in the industrial set up of the country. Most of the problems affecting individual industries are of a common nature and a Manufacturers' Organization of all industries continuously studying them and endeavouring to solve them has become a permanent need of every progressive nation. As already stated, the A.-I.M.O. is the only Organization of its kind in India, similar to the National Manufacturers' Association in U.S.A. and Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Canada, to promote the growth of all Industries, and it will be advantageous to you as well as to your own individual industry if you become a member of both your own Association and the All-India Manufacturers' Organization.

15. We hope that this elucidation of the activities of our Organization will be of some help to you in deciding to become a member-Donor, Life, Company or Ordinary. If you have any other questions to ask, we will only be too pleased to answer them to the best of our knowledge and opportunity. Kindly address queries to the Secretary of the Organization, Industrial Assurance Building, Churchgate, Fort, Bombay.

16. Let us assure you that barring a small salaried staff the entire work of the Organization is attended to by the Members themselves who pay their own subscription and maintain the Organization as a matter of public duty and for the satisfaction and experience which one derives from performing such duty.

This is an appeal to you to consider whether you too should not participate in this work along with other members to help to Industrialise and thereby promote the growth of the country's economic prosperity.
